Real Estate Recession Riches - Top 10 Real Estate Investing Tips That Don't Suck!

Dec 11 2020 Allow me to share my story with you. My name is Cory Boatright. I am 35 years old and since my early twenties I have started, run, or been directly involved with almost 40 different companies. I have sold everything from Ginsu knives on eBay, Kirby vacuum cleaners door-to-door, all the way to $50,000 high-end electronics

Online. Out of the forty-something companies only TWO of them ever proved to be worthwhile endeavors. The other thirty-eight I decided to call "business therapy." Interestingly enough, both of the successful companies harnessed the power of the Internet to make their profits. After bringing in almost 4 million dollars in sales from my first start-up. I sold it and directed my passion to the world of real estate investing. Why real estate? Well, most of my affluent customers in my first business owned real estate so I knew there was something to be learned in that industry. I was a complete novice to it And...oh...by the way before I forget...did I mention that I didn't even graduate from high school? Apparently my drive to succeed coupled with my persistence to not fail clouded my judgment of the value of a formal education. So instead, I settled for a G.E.D. I'm not looking for any pity-party. I just mentioned this to demonstrate that if a highschool dropout can make it, the doors are open for just about anyone else to do it too. Now fast forward a bit into my real estate experiences. I started out being a "bird dog" which means I was out finding good deals on properties and getting paid a finders fee for it. That fee was usually $500 - $1,500. After I learned how much money the investor was making selling the houses I was bringing him, I quickly learned how to assign, wholesale and flip distressed properties. That brought in checks anywhere from $3,000 - $10,000. Not bad, but I had a hunch those properties were worth a lot more after they were fixed up. So I decided to put together a "skeleton" rehab crew and thought I would make $15,000 - $30,000 per deal, but I was sadly mistaken. My rehab attempts ended up being more of a mirage instead of a real profit center. My $30,000 paydays actually came out to be more around $17,500 after considering all the contractor frustrations, material costs, labor, marketing, selling and other holding costs. Needless to say I had more fun assigning contracts. It wasn't until around 2004 that I stumbled my way through a short sale and I made over $30,000 on that deal! That was the most money that I had ever made on one single real estate transaction. I couldn't believe the lender would accept less than what was owed for a payoff. I was immediately hooked and quickly learned everything possible about the short sale process. The more I learned about Short Sales, the more I was asked by other investors to partner on deals. I quickly became known as the local "go-to" guy for doing short sales. Other investors continually asked me how they too could learn to do what I was doing. So after being asked by numerous fellow investors to teach and coach them on the subject, I decided to "dive in head first" and write my first information product/home study course. What I discovered in real estate investing was something I never expected. Not only was the short sale niche secretive, but the entire industry. And the "real truth" was shared only amongst a small, tight knit group of investors, but not anymore. I've cornered the "top dogs" in their niche of real estate investing and forced them to talk. When you finish reading "Real Estate Recession Riches" you are going to be smarter and wiser newbie or advanced real estate investor. Period. Remember... be a servant, Cory Boatright Cory Boatright is a flat out ge

The Ofsted Murders Aug 26 2019 Something odd is happening after dark in Britain's schools...Ofsted, the schools' Inspectorate, are deeply worried. To lose one inspector in the line of duty might be considered a misfortune, but to have four inspectors lured into school after hours, dispatched, and left in outlandish poses before a cryptic message scrawled on the blackboard - that just looks like carelessness. Helen Haversham, Year 1 teacher at Hornby Infants School, is also worried. Both Ofsted and Christmas are coming. Her displays are up, her paperwork is done, and she has read the Head's memo explicitly forbidding ritual homicide, and yet something doesn't seem quite right...Who has been making midnight visits to the school? What has so unhinged the leader of the Ofsted team? How can she stop the class guinea pig from going on another dirty protest? If Helen can't answer these questions by Friday story time, then the school's end of term carol concert and Nativity is going to come to a truly unforgettable climax...

Flashback Inferno Dec 31 2019 The story starts with the memories of a retired person called Avinash, who spends his days in the USA appreciating her natural beauty and pollution free atmosphere. He stays at New Jersey but visits New York, Atlantic City, Niagara Falls and Hollywood. He admires the Americans for their honesty, hard work and discipline. He compares the luxurious style of living of the entire population to India's poverty-ridden state. He discusses this issue with his senior citizen friends and convinces them that this is due to corruption and not only illiteracy, by explaining the level of corruption amongst bureaucrats, in the judiciary and politics from the time of his cursed birth. With his American friends, he writes a book on corruption and ways to eradicate it and explains it to the Indian chief. He foresees a joint attack by Pak and China jointly and gives valuable suggestions to end the war. He also foresees the division of Seemanadra into Seema and Andra, and Karnataka into three regions. He meets the concerned leaders with his team and helps regain peace. He receives International awards for peace, after being treated as useless by his parents and bosses. Truth, peace, humanity and nature win.

Heads You Lose Nov 02 2022 Pigeonsford Estate is playing host to a group of close friends when one of their number, Grace Morland, is found dead in a ditch. The murder is made even more unusual by the fact that Grace was wearing her friend Francesca's hat, the same hat that only the day before she'd claimed she wouldn't be caught dead wearing. Inspector Cockrill has known most of the friends since they were children. They are all from good families and very close to one another; how, then, could one of them be a cold-blooded killer? And if one of them had murdered Grace which one was it and why had they done it? First published in 1941 Heads You Lose is a classic country house mystery that proves that in every friendship there are secrets, some of which are best left buried.

Trail of the Master Spies Apr 02 2020 The heads of various Agencies, the CIA, NSA, the British Secret Service, Interpol along with others, have had some of their best agents killed, all with some kind of animal names, amongst those next on the list is John Fernardaz a.k.a. James Barn, the Jaguar. Another man who is known as one of Egypt's Master Spies is the Chief of Egypt's own Secret Service, John is placed on a dangerous mission to stop the person or persons responsible, as well as find two beautiful women who hold the possible answers to the murders, without he himself being discovered and killed. From England to the Middle East, his search leads him to ruff night clubs, and through a maze of brushes, a fight with a magician and a room filled with realistic maninkins. The kill is clever, witty and above all else dangerous, leaving a trail of bodies and no real clues, in ever country he or she has been in. The prizes mount, with Barn hoping now to be one of those mounted on the wall of a man called the Trophy Master.

Tour de Force Jan 24 2022 Inspector Cockrill's dull vacation is jolted by a Mediterranean murder From the moment he steps on the plane, Inspector Cockrill loathes his fellow travelers. They are typical tour group bores: the dullards of England whom he had hoped to escape by going to Italy. He gives up on the trip immediately, burying his nose in a mystery novel to ensure that no one tries to become his friend. But not long after the group makes landfall at the craggy isle of San Juan el Pirata, a murder demands his attention. The body of a woman is found laid out carefully on her bed, blood pooled around her and fingers wrapped around the dagger that took her life. The corrupt local police force, impatient to find a killer, names Cockrill chief suspect. To escape the Italian hangman, the detective must find out who would go on vacation to kill a stranger.

Green for Danger Sep 07 2020 Set in a military hospital during the blitz, this novel is one of Brand's most intricately plotted detection puzzles, executed with her characteristic cleverness and gusto. When a patient dies under the anesthetic and later the presiding nurse is murdered, Inspector Cockrill finds himself with six suspects--three doctors and three nurses--and not a discernible motive among them.
